

About This Course

STCW Fire Prevention and Fire Fighting (FPFF) is designed to form part of the minimum Basic Safety Training programme for seafarers and is a mandatory requirement for anyone who wishes to work at sea.

The aim of the course is to give all delegates the basic knowledge and skills required to prevent fires and how to extinguish them. Our purpose-built multi-storey steel fire unit, fitted with simulated shipboard compartments, is used for live fire training.

This STCW 2010 course provides both a practical and theoretical mixture of training which includes:

- The theory of the nature of Fire
- Extinguishing different types of fire
- Carrying out the initial actions on discovering a fire
- Correctly using portable and mobile fire extinguishers
- The use of hoses, nozzles and hose equipment
- Testing and using BA equipment

The course is also included in our STCW Basic Safety Training Week.

NOTE: Delegates undergoing fire fighting training will be required to complete and sign a confidential medical declaration to make us aware of any health problems, disabilities or injuries that we may need to take into account whilst attending this physically demanding course. It is therefore essential that delegates feel healthy and are physically fit to undertake such training.

Certification

On successful completion of the course, participants will receive a Fire Prevention and Fire Fighting (FPFF) certificate approved by the Liberian Registry, the world's largest quality registry.
